

Wellesley Weston

I N E

fall 2014

inbox

recent news briefs covering wellesley and weston people, places, and businesses

► On Saturday, September 13 from 10:00 am to 1:00 pm, Wally the Green Monster will deliver the 2004, 2007, and 2013 World Championship trophies to Lux Bond & Green, official jeweler of the Boston Red Sox. Visit Lux Bond & Green at 60 Central Street in Wellesley and have your photo taken with the trophies. Your $10 donation will benefit the NVRQT campaign, short for "never quit," run by the Pediatric Cancer Research Foundation. For more information, visit www.lbgreen.com.

► Mark your calendars for a Talia Don Designs trunk show at the IMPULSE by Adamas Fine

Jewelry showroom, located at 180 Linden Street, Linden Square in Wellesley, on Friday September 19 from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm. Meet the local designer and shop her newest collection of one-of-a-kind jewelry, handcrafted using semi-precious stones, Swarovski crystals, and precious metals. Also, take advantage of special trunk show promotions. For more information, visit www.trustyourimpulse.com or call 781.416.1800. Please see their ad on page 171.

► Wellesley Investment Partners, a wholly owned subsidiary of Wellesley Bank, announced that Wellesley resident Mary Beth Mahoney has been appointed as Director, Wealth Advisor. In this role, Mary Beth will be responsible for attracting and managing new relationships in support of the company's expansion in the New England area. Ms. Mahoney has 16 years as an investment professional and 11 years as an executive in financial services. For more information, visit www.wellesleybank.com.

Mary Beth Mahoney

Marc Kaplan

► Marc Kaplan, president of Sanford Custom Builders, is featured in the latest edition of KITCHEN TRENDS magazine for his work in an expanded Weston home. The article states: "Subtle modern accents set off this refined, spacious kitchen," and highlights Patrick Ahearn's design and Sanford's building of a primarily traditional kitchen with modern accents. The kitchen has a furniture-like island, commercial cooktop, and custom white painted cabinetry.

► The Parlor Salon and Apothecary is celebrating five years in Wellesley and Nikki An-Levi has been the sole owner for the last year. Formerly with Bumble and Bumble in New York, Nikki's unique approach to style has earned The

Nikki An-Levi

Parlor Salon countless accolades and a devoted following. Located at 398-400 Washington Street, clients enjoy a truly special salon experience with services including hair cuts, color, Keratin, relaxer, texture perms, manicures, pedicures, massage, peels, waxing, and more. Call 781.237.2121 for an appointment and visit www.theparlorsalonandapothecary.com. Please see their ad on page 143.

► On Sunday, September 28, 2014, the 5th annual HopeWalks will be held to benefit the Vernon Cancer Center at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. The 3.5 mile route will start and end at the hospital, and all ages are welcome. Walk as an individual, start a team, or join an existing team. Register today at www.nwh.org/hopewalks. For more information, contact 617.243.5915 or hopewalks@partners.org.

Dana Cohen, AIA, and Wellesley resident Michael Tartamella, AIA, of Patrick Ahearn Architect LLC were awarded Governor's Citations from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for their commitment to the Boston Survivors Accessibility Alliance (BSAA). Dana and Mike have been actively participating in the Renovate for Recovery program as project managers, volunteering their time and drawings to make accessible modifications to the homes of marathon bombing victims. Dana also serves as the program's co-chair, coordinating architects' efforts with those made on behalf of the BSAA.

right: Michael Tartamella and Dana Cohen